THE RACE AT THE COLISEUM
 Opening of the Ladies' Six-Day Bicycle Tournament.
WOODS LEADS BY TWO LAPS.
 Miss Williams Makes Several Spurts in a Vain Endeavor to Head the Procession—Base Ball and Races.
 The Bicycle Race.
 The patrons of the Coliseum have lost none of their interest in the lady bikers, as was attested by the large attendance, yesterday, at the opening of the six days' race, four hours a day, with the same contestants that appeared here last month. The contest will be a better one than was given by the fair cyclists at their first appearance. The riders are all in better condition, and give promise of making a speedier race.
 The start was made yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and was a lively one from the crack of the pistol to the close of the two hours' session. The first fact made prominent was that Miss Williams will not have a walkaway in this race. As soon as the riders were fairly started she made an effort to gain a lap by one of her old time spurts, which she has surprised found Oakes, Woods and Baldwin close after her. They would not be shaken. The first mile was made in 3:48, and 15 miles and 3 laps were covered in one hour. Armano rode 15 miles and drew off from the other contestants, keeping together through the two hours, scoring 50 miles and 4 laps. The building was fairly well filled when the riders started for the two hours' evening run at 8 o'clock. At 8:30 Miss Williams made Oakes, Collins and both were carried from the ring. Miss Woods took advantage of the mishap and gained a lead of two laps. The victims of the accident remounted almost immediately. Williams gaining her speed first and securing a lead of a lap on the plucky English girl. The position of the riders was not much changed during the evening and they crossed the line at 10 o'clock in a bunch with the following score:

Woods	Miles	Laps
Williams	50	7
Baldwin	50	5
Oakes	50	5
Lewis	50	5
Brown	50	2
Armano	33	2

Equestriennes vs. Bicyclists.
 Marve Bloodley yesterday received a telegram from P. H. Butler, of Kansas City, authorizing him to make a match with the lady bicycle riders to race against two ladies on horseback. Mr. Butler is a great horseman and has had large experience in the management of chess and tournament and equestrian exhibitions. He has at present the management of Miss Williams, the equestrienne, who was Nellie Burke's greatest rival. It is probable that a race will be made, four of the lady bicycle riders to ride against two equestriennes.

IOWA NEWS.
Dietch Granted a Pardon.
 Des Moines, Ia., April 28.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—A pardon by the governor was made today for Dietch, who is now in the penitentiary at Anamosa, under a life sentence for murder. The case is one of uncommon interest from the fact that the possibility is that Dietch is an innocent man, and has been suffering for another man's crime. A man named Joseph Thum was murdered at Cedar Rapids about four years ago. Governor Sherman offered a reward of $500 for the arrest of the murderer, and Dietch and a man named Thum were arrested and convicted of murder in his second degree and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. Dietch stoutly affirmed his innocence and the governor was led to believe that the man who gave evidence against him did so to get a reward. Dietch refused to pay it. Nevertheless, Dietch was convicted, and has been in prison nearly four years. Some of his old army friends have followed up the case, and believing that he was innocent, have collected all the evidence they had to prove that fact. After careful investigation, Governor Larrabee concluded to give the man a pardon, and on May 1 he will be set free, after nearly four years of what, in all probability, has been an illegal imprisonment.
Held Up and Robbed.
 WATERLOO, Ia., April 29.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—William Scott, a farmer sixty-four years of age, living in Timber Creek township, Marshall county, was robbed last Thursday night by three fellows who visited his home about midnight, and held a revolver at his head while the place was ransacked. They got away with $300 in currency and $100 in gold, which Mr. Scott mined in California in the '60's. Three fellows have been arrested for the crime.
Fire at Central City.
 CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., April 29.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—A fire at Central City, twenty miles north of here, yesterday, destroyed property valued at $20,000. The fire was supposed to have been started by ex-saloon men in revenge for having been prevented from selling liquor. The principal sufferers, general store; Hutchinson & Hass, meat market; Porter & Clark, hardware; McLaughlin & Crane, general merchandise. The total insurance is about $10,000.
Chased by an Angel.
 Des Moines, Ia., April 29.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—A special from McGregor says that an English spinster, by the name of Hartwick, made an assault upon a farmer, named Eugene, who lives about five miles from there. She drove him off his farm and followed up her attack with a revolver. He came to the rescue, and secured a warrant for her arrest, and she was committed to the county jail. The cause of her enmity to him is not known.
Burglars at Fairfield.
 FAIRFIELD, Ia., April 29.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—Burglars went through the residence of Rev. J. F. Macell, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, while the family was at church last evening. They secured some money and many household goods and valuables, and left the house in a very demoralized condition. The police are working on a clue, and have some parties under suspicion.
School Superintendent Suspended.
 WATERLOO, Ia., April 29.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—J. M. Vanhouten, principal of the schools at Waterloo, Linn county, has been suspended, pending an investigation, to be made by the county superintendent, of some charges brought against him by H. O. Bishop, of Waterloo, who is principal of the school, and who is charged with an assault on May 6. Vanhouten claims to be innocent.
Fell Dead in the School.
 CLINTON, Ia., April 29.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—While assisting her substitutes in the Eleventh avenue public school drill of children to-day for the centennial exercises to-morrow, Principal Mary Crane fell dead from apoplexy. She had taught here for ten years and was a favorite teacher.
Fell on a Hay Knife.
 MASON CITY, Ia., April 29.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—A young son of A. A. Hoffmaster, of Plymouth, fell from a stack of hay on which he was playing yesterday, striking his face on a hay knife and splitting his nose and cutting an ugly gash the whole length of his face. His recovery is doubtful.
SOME MORE KYRLE BELLEVUE.
One of the Carter Relatives Testifies to the Suit.
 Chicago, April 29.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—The interest in the Carter case continues unabated, and the usual crowd was present in Judge Janison's court this morning when the trial was resumed. The venerable Judge Drummond was on the stand again, and was cross-examined by Lawyer Smith. The witness' age and judicial standing was a check on the barrister's usual bulwarking method of cross-examination.
 Judge Drummond's testimony was corroborative of Leslie Carter's, particularly as to the point that Mrs. Carter was reluctant to tell concerning her relations with Kyrle Hellew. "She insisted," said the witness, "that Mr. Hellew had acted as a respectable man, and she had not seen him since he was underhanded in her conduct with him."
 They were through with Judge Drummond before 10:45 a. m., and Miss Margaret Carter, aunt of Leslie Carter, was put upon the stand. She told how she came to take charge of the Carter household after the death of Leslie's mother in 1862. She said there was not the least trouble between her and Mrs. Leslie Carter, who she came home on the bridal trip. Her testimony was principally to show that Mrs. Carter had not been treated like a stranger, and that at the time she had expressed herself as appreciating the kindness of the family toward the young bride. Mrs. Carter decries that she had ever discussed the price of strawberries just prior to the birth of the boy; and as for the strawberry incident, she never heard of it until the trial came up. She testified that the appearance of Mrs. Carter after her separation from Leslie was stout. She had never seen Leslie's wife looking so well.
 Miss Helen Carter, sister of Leslie Carter, was the next witness to take the stand. She testified that she had known Leslie Carter, and rather up to the romantic times Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Dudley have told with martyr-like resignation, of their sufferings.
 Mr. Ernest Carter's testimony was to the purpose of proving that the relations of his Caroline Carter to the family were friendly and loving. He told of the arguments he had with her in the Murray Hill hotel, when she had determined to go to Europe. Ernest Carter told her that talk about her conduct was already rife, and that it was her duty to stay home. She was then told to tell her husband, and he was seen on the street with him, and the rumors would become serious, and that if she went to Europe it would create a scandal. She insisted that there was no more objection to her going abroad than for any other married woman going abroad without her husband. Then she was told to tell her husband, and she was seen on the street with a man. This was Wednesday, September 22, 1886, three days after she had returned from Europe.
 "Who was that man?"
 "Kyrle Hellew."
 After that he told of meeting Mrs. Carter in a candy shop on Broadway. This was in November, 1886, after she had seen Leslie Carter in Chicago. Ernest reproached her for her conduct in Europe and spoke of the "false" letters. He told her she ought to go back to Chicago and make a confession to her husband. At this point a recess was taken until afternoon.
 Nothing of importance was elicited in young Carter's cross-examination. Several depositions of witnesses in New York and New Jersey were as to Mrs. Carter's extravagant mode of living while in the east and abroad were presented, but after some discussion the reading was dropped and court adjourned until Wednesday.

A QUET DAY AT THE CAPITAL
 Office-seekers Solved Themselves at the Reaso.
 ONE VOICE IN THE STILLNESS.
 A Scalp-Hunting Cincinnati Lawyer the Only Man Talking Politics in the City—Thayer Indorses the Post.
 WASHINGTON BUREAU, THE OMAHA BEE, }
 515 FORTRESS STREET, }
 WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29. }
 "May we come in, sir?" was the question a blushing bride put to the door-keeper at the white house early this morning.
 "Yes," was the reply, "but the president is not here."
 "We only want to look around the house," the newly married young lady continued, and she was as quiet as a Sunday through the claps and another bride and groom entered the great east parlor. At 11 o'clock forty-five persons were in the room, and thirty-six were brides and grooms. The spring installation of these people is just arriving in Washington and they are seen everywhere. Over two hundred persons called at the white house during the day, but none sought office. It was most as quiet as a Sunday through the city. A large body of office-seekers amused themselves during the afternoon making a technical examination of a new steam bicycle in the corridors of the Ebbitt, having nothing better to do than to indicate indications of political life were seen at the postoffice department and the pension bureau, where Acting Postmaster-General Clarkson and Commissioner Tanager appointed fourth-class postmasters and new pension boards at libitum and with exorbitant salaries. The principal changes in the office of General Superintendent Bell, of the railway mail service, who is making changes in postal clerks as rapidly as possible with a view to the promotion of service laws on Wednesday. He has made wholesale re-appointments of old clerks removed under Cleveland, put in new men to superintend the clerks, and has announced this afternoon that there would be changes in three-fourths of the places by day after to-morrow.
 The absence of the president and his cabinet in New York induced many senators and representatives to join the office-seekers in a little sojourn out of the city, and the streets presented a deserted appearance. The races at Ivy City, in the suburbs of Washington, D. C., were held yesterday, and it was noticed that there was a crowd of the white house daily with a nervous tread and who expect a call to the service of Uncle Sam were not among the investors in mutuality. They are clinging to their money like grim death. To-morrow there will be more life in the streets in the national capital and less in the departments. Being a national holiday the departments will be closed. A few people will respond to the president's call to go to the city and see the city, and they will go to the races—provided it does not rain. It has been raining by perpetual down or heavy showers since last Wednesday night. To-night it looks threatening. There will be a general suspension of business in the city to-morrow, and the departments and the business houses on the slightest provocation, but they give up their pleasure only under protest.
 The chief of this political vanguard on the streets to-day, was Edward Ritchie, a lawyer from Cincinnati. He is here with his war paint on and a scalping knife drawn for the purpose of catching the chief collector of customs at Cincinnati. He charges Smith with catering to the saloon element and denouncing the republican ranks thereby, and with being generally undesirable of political pretension. He created quite a sensation in some quarters, by his bold assertions, by assisting the chief collector of town who talked politics, and got an audience wherever he went. Men who have had their eyes on the chief collector of late, are enjoying their brief respite now.
THAYER INDORSES THE MOVE.
 Today's Post publishes a lot of letters from friends and associates of Thayer, denouncing the house committee on rules be abolished. It has the following from Governor John M. Thayer: "I endorse fully and completely your editorial April 8, last, in which you have set forth the reasons for the abolition of the house of representatives at Washington. They are a mischievous and incongruous element in the government, and intelligent congressmen ever put together such a set of rules is beyond my comprehension. I trust you will continue the war upon them until they are abolished and common sense takes their place."

A BLOOD CURDLING SCENE.
Details of Sunday's Horrible Accident at Hamilton, Ont.
 PITTSBURGH, April 29.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—The story of the railroad wreck near Hamilton, Ont., yesterday, in which twenty persons were killed and a number of bodies cremated, was related to a reporter to-day by an eye-witness, Mr. Clifford, manager of the theatrical company that was on the train. Yesterday many lady members of the company gave what assistance they could to alleviate the sufferings of the poor victims, as they breathed their last.
 "In the coach which was crushed and crushed in a mass, where they had their legs cut off and arms mangled. In fact, the victims were cut up in almost every conceivable manner, and mingled with the dead, lay the living and badly injured when the doctors were trying to save."
Only Two Bodies Identified.
 HAMILTON, Ont., April 29.—Only two bodies of persons killed in yesterday's railway accident have been identified. They are S. T. Gurney, of New York, who was on his way home from Chicago, and Rudolph J. Mack, of Chicago, both of whom were instantly killed. The twelve persons wounded are all doing well, and it is thought they will recover.

 Andrew J. Carpenter, of Yankton, Dak., left the hospital for his home to-day.
 Inquest opened this morning, and after viewing the remains, those killed and the scene of the wreck, the jury adjourned. Before the inquest is continued, efforts will be made to identify the bodies. William Phillips, of the Hamilton base ball club, supposed to have been killed, has been heard from in Chicago.
 Workmen in shifting the remains of the wreck this afternoon, discovered what was, without doubt, the cause of the disaster. One of the axles of the engine, which had been broken. The axle, after the accident, had been pitched into the mud and water, and had also been somewhat burned. The jury seemed to be of the opinion that the broken axle caused the accident, but in order to get some more light upon the subject, an expert in iron and steel working was appointed to make an inspection.
THE HULL HEIRS.
They File a Bill Which Virtually Contests His Will.
 CHICAGO, April 29.—A dozen heirs-at-law of the recently deceased aged millionaire, Charles J. Hull, filed a bill in the circuit court to-day, which is virtually a contest of the rich man's will. Mr. Hull bequeathed all his estate, nearly $4,000,000, to his housekeeper, cousin and friend, Miss Helen Culver. This action caused great dissatisfaction among the heirs-at-law, every one of whom was ignored. The complainants state that Miss Culver has offered to pay them a considerable sum of money, that they bind themselves to accept it as settlement in full and for their heirs as well. They ask the court to adjudicate the whole matter.

THE POOR CZAR.
He Finds Threatening Letters on His Table.
 LONDON, April 29.—It is reported from St. Petersburg that in addition to the revolutionary pamphlets, menacing letters have been found on the czar's table. In consequence of the compromising discoveries affecting the chiefs of the secret police, the head of that department and several high officers have been dismissed.
Another Street Car Strike.
 St. Paul, April 29.—The street car company has now another strike on hand. The men at work on the cable line, on East Seventh street, 1015 in number, struck at 1 o'clock to-day, for an increase in wages from $1.25 to $1.50 per day.
